Fact Sheet

This full-time study program for a group of six students (three German and three Israeli students) offers an education in scientific working and methods, sociology, industrial relations, future of work and digital economy, labour law, politics and economics.

It provides financial support in the form of scholarship, including accommodation, meals, costs for books and course readers, monthly allowance and flights home at holidays.

Description

In the current global economy, big companies rule global value chains and worldwide labour forces. Therefore, the representation of employees' interests faces new challenges. Both Israel and Germany are forerunners in high-tech industries, new economic developments and have a long history of strong workers' movements.

The present study program is a cooperation of the Europäische Akademie der Arbeit (EAdA) in the University of Frankfurt am Main, the Macro Center of Political Economics (Macro) in Tel Aviv, Academic College of Tel Aviv Yaffo (MTA) and the Hans-Böckler-Foundation (HBS). It offers a comparative, scientific and interdisciplinary focus on both countries' industrial relations on the spot and it qualifies young people for an enhanced work at their local trade union, international employees' organisations, political parties, public institutions, non-governmental organizations and associations or in the field of workplace co-determination.

The courses begin in April and end in March of the following year.

- Term 1: April – September in Frankfurt
at the Europäische Akademie der Arbeit.
- Term 2: October – March in Tel Aviv
at the Academic College of Tel Aviv Yaffo
