Frankfurt has been one of the most important centers of Jewish life in Europe since the Middle Ages. After the reopening of the Jewish Museum in October last year (after 5 years of renovation) the new permanent exhibition 'We Are Now' exhibits Frankfurt's outstanding Jewish history since the Enlightenment (1800 CE) and shows how Jews shaped the cultural, economic and social development of this city.

This guided virtual tour provides an introduction to the topics of the permanent exhibition, its most central object and the history of the building (Rothschild Palais).
