Get That Job After Your Doctorate!
Applying and Interviewing in English

⊛ Objective

You've heard it often: After earning your doctorate you will be facing a highly competitive employment market. And obtaining a job in industry or a postdoc position in a research institute can be all the more challenging when you need to apply in English. That is where this online workshop is meant to help.

The objective is to enable you to create effective application materials on your own and to practice techniques which help you successfully navigate interviews.

📖 Description

This interactive online workshop focuses on the distinctive aspects of applying for industry jobs and postdoc positions worldwide in English. It provides training in navigating selected stages of that process, including creating your curriculum vitae and cover letter and presenting yourself convincingly in the interview.

We'll examine sample CVs and cover letters (including ones which are real and were successful), exploring them for strengths as well as for what they reveal about differences between applications for industry and those for research.

In breakout rooms, you'll work with fellow participants in pairs and small groups to do short exercises and role-plays with feedback from your trainer.

The virtual format also provides the perfect platform for gaining experience with interviewing online.

You'll receive a file with examples of CVs and cover letters as well as other helpful information related to the application process.

The workshop is held in English by a native speaker.
