

Team Communication: Key Roles and Intercultural Contexts

Objective

This online workshop helps participants become aware of the intercultural issues affecting their work and provides them with a set of tools to address these challenges.

Description

This workshop helps participants to explore those issues that most often affect communication in terms of team dynamics and to investigate those intercultural aspects that most frequently pose challenges to groups characterized by a high degree of internationalization.

Throughout the workshop, participants are encouraged to identify the specific role that each individual plays within a team. Within this context, the workshop is always characterized by a constant alternation between theoretical insights and hands-on practical experiences to provide participants with the tools to enhance their group's professional potential.

On the first day, participants attend the workshop all together as a single group.

On the second day, the participants join the trainer for a series of one-to-one sessions characterized by a dedicated tailor-made approach.

- Challenges and areas of conflict typical of international contexts
- Basic principles of a constructive and objective-oriented discussion technique
- Conflict management: strategies for addressing challenging communication dynamics
- Being aware of one's own role in a team and how to best mix and match different skills
- Giving and receiving constructive feedback as a member of a team

Methodology

- Individual and group (i.e. team) feedback
- Theoretical background (intercultural surveys)
- Role-play and case studies
- One to one feedback
- Group exercises

Organizational Information

Language	English
Target group	Doctoral Candidates at all stages and Postdocs from all faculties
Date	Monday, 30 May 2022, 9:00 – 18:00 Tuesday, 31 May 2022, 9:00 – 16:00
Registration	For registration click here

Trainer

Dr. Matteo Garavoglia
University of Oxford

Dr. Matteo Garavoglia is Research Associate at the University of Oxford. Previously, he was the Italy Program Fellow at the Brookings Institution's Centre on the United States and Europe and Adjunct Professor at Johns Hopkins University's Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS) in Washington DC. Matteo was educated at the universities of London (SOAS), Paris (Sciences Po) and Berlin (FUB). He has lived and worked in twelve countries across four continents and speaks English, French, German, Italian and Spanish. Matteo has been working with Impulsplus for over a decade.

