

Goethe University Frankfurt am Main invites applications for the position of

Professor (W2) of Extracurricular Sports Pedagogy

in the Institute of Sport Sciences at the Faculty of Psychology and Sports Sciences. This civil servant or public employee position will start as soon as possible.

The future holder of the position should represent the subject of "sports pedagogy" in the area of extracurricular movement culture in research and teaching (e.g. formal and informal education in sports, pedagogy of young competitive sports, Olympic pedagogy, sports in all-day schools, experiential education, health education). Applicants are expected to have an internationally relevant and empirically oriented research focus on the educational effects of sport in out-of-school settings. Furthermore, international scientific experience, the willingness to cooperate with organized sports (especially in the region), a broad connectivity to the research foci of the Department of Psychology and Sport Sciences at Goethe University as well as the willingness to collaborate in interdepartmental initiatives are expected.

In teaching, the professorship represents the sports pedagogical and educational-theoretical courses in the bachelor's degree program "Sports science" and in the master's degree program "Social Science of Sport. Furthermore, he/she is involved in the teaching of qualitative research. Applicants are expected to have appropriate subject knowledge as well as a high level of pedagogical and teaching aptitude, which must be demonstrated by positive teaching evaluations. In the course of the opening of the university for foreign students and the internationalization of the study programs, courses in the Bachelor's and Master's programs can also be offered in English. Teaching experience in neighbouring disciplines such as sports history, sports ethics or sports philosophy is desirable.

A university degree in sports science, education and/or a related social science subject is required, as well as a qualified doctorate and outstanding scientific research achievements, which can be achieved through a habilitation, a positively evaluated junior professorship or equivalent scientific achievements in the field of sports science. Several years of teaching and research work at a sports science institute as well as experience in the acquisition of third-party funds are also required.

The formal hiring requirements are defined in sections 67, 68, and 70 of the Hessian Higher Education Act (Hessisches Hochschulgesetz).

Goethe University is an equal opportunity employer, committed to diversity and inclusion. In particular, we are welcoming applications by qualified women and people with a migrant background. At Goethe University, a special emphasis is placed on creating and sustaining a family-friendly work and research environment. Where applicants are otherwise equally qualified, preference is given to candidates with disabilities or equivalent. The same applies to women in fields in which they are under-represented.
