

Negotiating Your Salary

Objective

To get a fair salary is a legitimate goal. But some well-known mechanisms let us accept less. Nobody can change the job market. But you can influence your own performance in negotiations.

This can be your ambition: No more concessions than necessary!

Description

After having attended this online workshop, you will

- be familiar with a method which avoids almost all possible mistakes,
- use only a few words,
- know and sidestep the tricks of interviewers,
- prepare your interview by comparing salaries in your market,
- understand that "being cheap" is a fatal strategy.

Methodology

You will get some lists & tips.

You will discuss your experience and ask questions.

Maybe you will want to try to simulate the negotiation.

It's a workshop, not a lecture!

Trainer

Dr. Steven Goldner

My experience with interviews covers many years on both sides:

I was head of Human Resources and I am a consultant.

Mainly I'm helping people to find the job that fits to their wishes.

I'm a consultant for companies and institutions in several industries.

I'm over 70 and love my job more than ever ... because it works!
