

Successive radii and Core-Sets? Lower bounds in dimension reduction in computational geometry

We present some new geometric inequalities in the line of Jung's theorem and show how those give lower bounds on the sizes of core-sets, an important tool in dimension reduction in computational geometry.