

Just Landed: An Introduction to Life and Academia in Germany

Objective

This workshop helps you answer questions like:

- What are the main challenges and opportunities facing a foreigner researcher coming to Germany?
- What are the main characteristics of academia in Germany?

Description

Moving to Germany for academic purposes can be an exciting yet daunting task (and your trainer did exactly that a few years ago). Crucially, this online workshop focuses specifically on providing you with the skills and knowledge needed to have a smooth start into your new life. In particular, this workshop places particular emphasis on issues pertaining to intercultural understanding, practical administrative and logistical challenges, the formal regulations of German academia and the unspoken rules mediating its professional and social interactions.

On the first day, participants work together as a group with the trainer to explore some of the challenges that they will likely face.

On the second day, participants meet the trainer on a one-to-one basis to address the specific concerns they might have through a tailor-made approach.

Dates for the second day will be assigned in advance via Doodle.

Methodology

- Role-play and recreation of real-life situations
- Continuous focus on the link between theory and practice
- Extensive hands-on, practical exercises
- Use of intercultural surveys
- Individual and group feedback

Aimed at non-German participants who recently moved to Germany or are soon to do so. The workshop is not intended for German participants or for those who have already been living in Germany for more than a year.

Trainer

Dr. Matteo Garavoglia
impulsplus, Köln

Dr. Matteo Garavoglia is Research Associate at the University of Oxford's Centre for International Studies and Adjunct Professor at the Hertie School of Governance in Berlin.

Previously, he was the Italy Program Fellow at the Brookings Institution's Centre on the United States and Europe and Adjunct Professor at Johns Hopkins University's Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS) in Washington DC. Matteo was educated at the universities of London (SOAS), Paris (Sciences Po) and Berlin (FUB). He lived in twelve countries across four continents and speaks English, French, German, Italian and Spanish. Matteo worked with Impulsplus for over a decade and provides workshops in a wide range of topics.

www.impulsplus.com/team/dr-matteo-garavoglia/

Organizational Information

Language	English
Target group	Doctoral Candidates at all stages and Postdocs from all faculties
Date	Workshop: Wednesday, 21 April 2021, 9:00 – 18:00 Individual Coaching: Thursday, 22 April 2021, 9:00 – 16:45 Appointments will be scheduled in advance via doodle.
Registration	For registration click here